OAK JURY FINDS ANTOINE GUILTY OF MURDER

Boy Bandit, 13, Baffles L. A. Police

JUDGE HITS CONDUCT OF OIL TRIAL

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—(U.P.)—Superior Judge William C. Dorn, who presided at the trial of seven men acquitted Wednesday of conspiracy in connection with the failure of the Julian Petroleum trust, denounced today the laxity of district attorney A. A. Keyes in prosecution of the case.

The statement, the jurist explained, was issued because he "was surprised at the verdict of the jury and was greatly disappointed thereby."

"I have concluded," he wrote, "that I cannot discharge my duty to the people of this county by remaining officially silent on the result of the trial."

The judge attacked the brevity of the state's argument to the jury and the infrequent attendance of Keyes at the trial.

"I feel that the diligence would have brought about a different verdict at least in the cases of some of the defendants who were primarily responsible for one of the most unfortunate episodes in the history of this county."

Filibuster Halts Vote On Mussel

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(U.P.)—Opponents of the mussel shelling conference bill held the senate in the grip of a filibuster for more than 12 hours continuously and were still in command of the situation as midnight neared.

Despite pleading from senators who wished to vote those heading the filibuster refused to give up. It was uncertain shortly after 11 p. m. whether the filibuster would be strong enough to continue through the night, although those in charge of it were prepared to exhaust themselves in their effort.

Senator Hiram Johnson had planned to hold the senate in session all night to break a filibuster against his Boulder Dam bill but since this was laid aside in favor of the mussel shelling conference report Johnson expected to defer his projected session until Friday night.

'Mexican Lindbergh' In 30-Hour Nonstop Flight

SAN DIEGO, May 24.—(U.P.)—Emilio Carranza, 23, the "Lindbergh of Mexico" took off from here at 3:30 p. m. today on a non-stop flight to Mexico City.

He planned later to make a non-stop flight to Washington to Mexico City and to return the visit of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh to the Southern Republic.

Carranza was flying a Ryan monoplane similar to that used by Lindbergh in his epochal flight. The plane carried gasoline sufficient for a flight lasting 30 hours.

The Mexican aviator proposed to follow a compass course direct to Mexico City and thus the major portion of his flight would be over sparsely settled districts. He was expected to pass over few large cities before arriving at his destination.

The start was made from Camp Kearney and a large group of spectators had gathered to wish the flyer luck.

Carranza took off after receiving reports from Mexico City that weather conditions in that vicinity were favorable for flying.

Expenses for the flight were met by popular subscription in Mexico.

Richmond Jurors Hearing Damage Suit At Martinez

Eleven of the twelve jurors trying the $52,000 damage suit in Martinez of William Bloomfield and N. C. Cleaves against W. T. Sennon and the Sennon Realty company, better known as the "Bethel Island flood suit," are from Richmond and El Cerrito.

Attorneys estimate that fully two weeks will be required for the trial of the case inasmuch as the present trial is likened upon as a test case on the basis of which many similar actions in which something like $400,000 is sought for damages, will be adjusted.

3 STATES ARE SEARCHED FOR BANK BANDITS

LAMAR, Colo., May 24.—(U.P.)—A background of intrigue, cool plotting and possibly revenge has developed in connection with the murders, today of five bandits who killed two officials in a bank holdup here and escaped with $14,000 in cash and securities.

While the bandits who planned and carried out the robbery were being sought tonight through the southeastern portion of Colorado, the fringe of Kansas and even as far away as Oklahoma, authorities here undertook a hunt for E. A. Kesinger, teller of the First National Bank who was kidnapped and perhaps slain by the desperadoes.

Sheriff L. E. Alderman expressing the theory that the gang may have disposed of Kesinger after crippling the sheriff's automobile in a gun fight near Bristol, ordered a search of the Amity canal for a distance of ten miles. The bandits, said Alderman, might have killed Kesinger rather than be hampered by an extra passenger in their flight, and thrown him out of the car. The canal offered a likely place of concealment of the body and water has been drained from it to test the theory.

"I'm glad we got that old in the front office," Lundgren quoted one of the bandits as saying during their wild ride from the scene of the holdup. "He trimmed me in a ranch deal."

The bandit referred to A. N. Parrish, president of the bank, who with his son, John F., was killed in the holdup. No substantiation of the statement was found in Parrish's papers.

Babe May Free Her Mother Of Cruelty Count

"A precocious child of super mental calibre."

Such was the report of County Physician E. W. Merrithew yesterday in Martinez after an examination of 6-year-old Constance Hanney, whose mother, Mrs. Eleanor Hanney of this city, has been cited to answer charges of cruelty in connection with the alleged imprisoning of her child in a tankhouse here.

The physician's testimony was borne out by the child's mother, who broke her silence to strike back at her accusers in defense of her babe.

"Once Constance steps on the witness stand and tells her attitude to me and illustrates the time I have spent with her in teaching her songs and poems and little recitations, there will be no question in the judge's mind that I have not been cruel to her."

"She was never confined there for any length of time. I put her in on Monday afternoon when she was found. I was taken ill that day and had to go to bed. I did not want the other children to bring her down and the long ladder from the tankhouse and I kept her there all night. She had plenty of bedclothing and was well fed. This talk of cruelty is nonsense."

LAD STRIKES TWICE AS HE ESCAPES NET

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—Defying efforts of scores of police, the "gun boy" of Los Angeles struck twice here tonight.

The boy who is believed by authorities to be approximately 15 years of age, slayed two during holdups within 15 minutes and got a total of $110.

He first entered a branch office of a telegraph company and held up the manager at the point of a pistol. An alarm was sounded by the manager immediately after the lad fled, but police were unable to pick up a clue.

Next, the youthful bandit entered the office of the Western Union Telegraph company, and made another successful escape.

Police have a net over the entire city and are keeping a close watch for the lad who is believed to be using a stolen green coupe for his exploits.

Authorities Seek Relatives Of Man Asphyxiated Here

Funeral arrangements are pending while authorities get in touch with relatives of Michael O'Keefe, 72, who was found dead yesterday morning in a gas-filled room of his home at 217 Marin avenue, west side. The body was discovered by neighbors who became alarmed at O'Keefe's absence.

Authorities are attempting to locate a wife and daughter of the man, believed to be living in Palo Alto. He also has a son living in Ukiah.

Police advance the theory that O'Keefe became asphyxiated by gas escaping from a leaky tube. His death is believed to have occurred sometime Tuesday.

Funeral arrangements will be handled by Wilson and Kratzer. O'Keefe's funeral will be held Saturday morning from Curry's chapel thence to Our Lady of Mercy church. Interment will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

A radio message was broadcast to O'Keefe's son, William, who is in the United States navy on a ship at sea. Another son, Joseph, also survives.

Many of those under arrest are alleged to be Italian anarchists. All of them denied they had been implicated in the outrage.

LUCKY, SAYS MECHANIC AT SENTENCE

Arthur Leroy Antoine was found guilty of murder of his wife by 12 members of a jury last night in the Alameda county courthouse. The jurors recommended life imprisonment.

"Gee, but I'm lucky," Antoine said to his bailiff as he was led from the courtroom after the verdict was read.

The jurors took five ballots during four hours and 45 minutes of deliberations. On the first ballot seven voted Antoine should hang, three urged life imprisonment and two were in favor of finding him guilty of second degree murder.

Antoine was ordered to appear in court Monday morning for sentence.

Evidence introduced by prosecution charged that he killed his wife so he might marry a young sweetheart.

Closing arguments of both the prosecution and defense were made yesterday.

Jurors and audience went as Chief Defense Counsel Joseph P. Lacey made an impassioned plea for the acquittal of Antoine. He declared that the prosecution had failed to show that a murder had been committed and had not established the corpus delicti.

Lacey made a feature of the fact that Police Inspector George Burbank, one of the two officers who obtained a confession from Antoine, is in ill-health and could not take the stand as a defense witness.

District Attorney Earl Warren made the closing address for the prosecution. "He testified himself with an outline of the evidence and asked the death penalty."

The crime with which Antoine is charged is alleged to have occurred on January 14 or 15. After a quarrel with his wife over his love for Lyla Stovall, 18, of Campo Seco, Antoine, according to his confession, killed Mrs. Antoine with a hammer.

His confession relates that he sewed the body in a canvas sack heavy with 50 pounds of cement and cast the body into the water of the Carquinez Straits.

CHICAGO, May 24.—(U.P.)—The agricultural protest to the veto of the McNary Hayden bill gathered momentum today and assumed the proportions of a middle western rebellion to be climaxed on the floors of both republican and democratic conventions next June.

RENEE ADOREE WINSOME STAR IN FILM HERE

Universal is certainly turning out some crackjacks of late. The Richmond theatre has garnered the local rights on "Back to God's Country" and they tell me that the film is going to mean a big harvest to Uncle Sam—come tax bigger and all that sort of thing. And I am sure that the theatre owners are not a bit sad about that.

This is a remarkable production and has an excellent cast. Renee Adoree is charming and wistful in the starring role. No doubt our citizenry will flood her with fan letters after this.

My own little fan letter is this: "Dear Miss Adoree: You certainly did your stuff in 'Back to God's Country.' I can't remember ever seeing you so radiant and you have indeed had some splendid roles in the past. You don't mind, do you, if I give a little credit for the picture to others than yourself? Of course, you made the picture exceptionally interesting for me but—"I think Robert Fraser did very well opposite you. He was superb. And Mitchell Lewis was despicable. But of course, he was supposed to be. He is a mighty fine actor, too.

"And Irvin Willat did a great piece of work in directing and moulding the story into a coherent whole. And James Oliver Curwood didn't give him such a bad start when he wrote that thrilling novel, 'Back to God's Country.'

"Here, hoping that you will give us some more colorful things like this. Your eternal fan.

Other film features include the last chapter of 'Heroes of the Wild' and Felix the Cat.

Work On Pinole Highway To Be Launched Soon

Breaking of the Pinole "bottle-neck" and reconstruction of Main street, Pinole, will be started by the California Highway Commission as soon as transfer of property to the state to permit widening of Main street to 80 feet can be consummated. Bert B. Meek, director of the state department of public works, assured City Attorney T. M. Carlson at a conference in Sacramento. The officials conferred with Meek on plans for highway building at the behest of the Pinole council.

Assuring that no burden is to be placed on Pinole residents in reconstructing and widening the highway, Meek declared that Main street will probably be paved to a width of 60 feet in the town's business district and to a width of 30 feet in residential areas.

The state, he said, will not require property owners to build sidewalks and curbs outside the business area.

Property owners on the north side of Main street are to move buildings and dwellings in order to provide the right of way of 80 feet demanded by the state.

Chicago Banker Is Discharged As Wife Seeks Divorce

CHICAGO, May 24.—(U.P.)—A week ago William C. Freeman, prominent Chicago banker, was sued by his wife for separate maintenance. He wanted to leave her, she charged, and devote himself entirely to his work.

Today he was without wife or work.

The National Bank of the Republic, in which Freeman rose from messenger boy to vice-president in 27 years, asked his resignation because of the publicity arising from the separation suit. The National Republic Co., of which he was executive vice-president, followed suit. Freeman resigned from both offices.

The banker's attorney revealed the newest state of affairs when he made the requested resignations the basis of a court appeal against an "exorbitant" alimony for Mrs. Freeman.

"She always spent beyond his means and now she has ruined him with the publicity attending her suit," the attorney, Mitchell F. Ryan, said.

"On the contrary," said Lloyd A. Faxon, the wife's attorney, "she has helped him for 22 years. But since he has found success he feels too important to be her husband. They were happy while scripping on his former small salary."

Judge Joseph Eabath ordered Freeman to pay Mrs. Freeman a flat sum of $250 as temporary alimony.

Luck is the trump card played by a fool.

Local Pastor To Take Pulpit Of Church In L. A.

Following his annual vacation after severing connections with the First Presbyterian church here on July 22, Rev. Earl W. Haney, for three years pastor of the local church, will take his new duties as pastor of the Eagle Rock Presbyterian church in Los Angeles.

His resignation will be accepted by the church board on June 1, and the severance of his pastoral relation by presbytery will follow on June 12.

Members of the local church expressed regret at losing their well-loved pastor, but found gratification in the knowledge that he had been chosen for a high post.

BARTHELMESS GETS POINTERS ON THUG DRESS

After several months' concentration on the requirements of his role in "The Noose," Richard Barthelmess, First National star, feels qualified as an authority on what the well-dressed young gangster will wear.

The part of Nickie Bunkin, in "The Noose," which is now playing at the California Theatre, calls for underworld atmosphere; and, in order to present a front typical and yet individual, Barthelmess selected a wardrobe from a wide variety of Gas-House Gang models.

For those artistically meticulous who would be in fashion in the Gas House district, Barthelmess recommends patent leather shoes with gray button tops; a checked suit, close fitting—loud but not boisterous; a striped, soft-collared shirt, with a small bow tie, with stripes or polka dots. A kerchief matching the tie; a ring with a rather conspicuous "rock" in it; and a gray stonch felt hat complete the tout ensemble. For inclement weather, the w. d. y. w. will wear belted double-breasted leather coat.

Although it isn't a strict requirement in the best gangster circles, Barthelmess makes his character a little fussy about his nails, which he is constantly polishing. As Nickie Bunkin in "The Noose," Barthelmess imprinted on celluloid the dramatic story of a youth caught in the clutches of a strange combination of circumstances. John Francis Dillon directed him with Lina Basquette, former Police dancing star, in the role of Bob, the cabaret girl who loved the boy. Henry Hobart produced the picture, and James Van Trees was at the camera.

RAGS WANTED

How do you buy?

When you enter a store to buy anything, how do you ask for it? Do you call for the articles by name, or do you generalize—a can of tomato soup; a bag of flour; an aluminum kettle; so many square yards of linoleum; a meat grinder?

It is much better and far more satisfactory to specify the articles you want by name, for merchandise that is good enough to be sold by name is almost always better in quality, and usually no higher in price, than goods of uncertain lineage and less certain quality.

The advertising columns of this newspaper carry advertised names that are familiar to millions of people. Soap, flour, sugar, cereals, kitchen ware, rugs, linoleum, automobiles, etc. They represent those articles that stand for the best in their respective classes of merchandise—quality all through.

Advertising keeps these names before you constantly. Advertising is a constant reminder that the articles you want are the same articles that you see advertised day after day—that justify their being by the service they render. And advertising brings you news—of inventions, discoveries, improvements that keep you up to date.

Tell the sales clerk what you want by its advertised name. You'll get it—and your money will purchase full value. It pays to read advertisements and remember advertised names.

COUNTY WINS SUPPORT IN STAGE FIGHT

Contra Costa county, which recently applied to the Railroad Commission for a rehearing on its order granting the California Transcontinental company permission to establish an Oakland-Sacramento stage line, has won the support of the San Francisco-Sacramento Railroad, the Contra Costa Transit company in its fight to prevent the stage company from instituting the proposed service.

The railroad and the transit company also filed petitions for rehearing as the first move in a step to balk institution of a line that would touch Martinez, Bay Point, Nicholas, Pittsburg, Antioch, Oakley and Brentwood. The railroad's project also operates against permission granted the California Transit company to establish service from Oakland via Vallejo to Sacramento.

If the commission maintains its order permitting the Contra Costa service, the board of supervisors will take the case before the Superior Court for review, according to a decision reached two weeks ago.

The commission once granted a permit to Contra Costa Transit company for a Byron to Martinez service, but the transit company applied for a rehearing on the ground that it had a prior application for the service and won the permit.

The commission permit for the Contra Costa line does not allow the company to pick up passengers between Martinez and Antioch destined for intermediate points.

Court Refuses To Aid Reluctant Mother Of 13

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., May 24.—(U.P.)—City Judge William A. Buckley refused to intervene today in the private affairs of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cromwell.

The wife, who has had 13 children, sought to have her husband convicted of breach of the peace because he insisted that she continue to bear children after her physicians had warned her that another childbirth might cause her death.

After a brief hearing, in which City Attorney Daniel P. Griffin testified that the 39 year old proponent of bigger families had the mentality of an 8 year old child, Judge Buckley decided that his court should not take hand in the Cromwell family affairs.

Because it raised the delicate issue of whether the law should attempt to regulate the size of families, the case attracted nationwide attention. Judge Buckley bemoaned the aspect of the case. He said that "news scavengers" had attempted to make a hero and heroine of Mr. and Mrs. Cromwell.

The charge against Cromwell is a technical one as there is no law covering his alleged offense. His wife had him jailed, explaining to authorities that he was a religious fanatic obsessed with the idea that he should have unlimited children.

On the recommendation of Prosecutor James G. O'Connell, Judge Buckley continued the case until June 12, placing Cromwell under charge of Probation Officer James McConnell. The judge intimated the case would be dropped if Cromwell conducted himself rationally.

Many metropolitan newspapers were in the crowded courtroom when Judge Buckley arraigned them for the sensational publicity which has been given the case.

"This is a typical case in which news scavengers have made Mr. and Mrs. Cromwell a hero and heroine," he said. "Mr. Cromwell is not a criminal, he is an intelligent man and there is no legal basis for a case against him."

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(U.P.)—

Two distinctly radical types of airplanes—one 12-engined for transcontinental use and another adapted for railroad terminal landings—are being experimented with by one of the leading aeronautic engineers in the country, it was learned today.

The 12-engined plane is about such a radical departure from the ordinary mechanical construction that it appears almost a wild dream, yet aeronautic experts declare it will work.

The huge ship is designed to accommodate 60 passengers, providing them with lounging, eating and sleeping quarters. Its wing construction and fuselage are similar to a giant bomber, only on a much larger scale. Its motive system, however, is entirely new.

Two stationary engines are built in the nose. Ten locomotive planes each similar to a small pursuit plane or a flying gasoline tank, are hooked onto wings.

The principle involved is like taking 10 small automobiles which can be hooked on and off when their fuel runs low, and fastening them to a large truck to obtain continual motive power for a non-stop run.

Long An Obstacle

The great obstacle to long distance flying has been the inability of planes to carry sufficient fuel and a "pay load" at the same time. The design of the 12-engined ship tends to eliminate this.

For example the ship would start from New York to San Francisco with a full cargo and all engines operating. At Washington, or some designated stop, two of the engines, one from each wing, would be detached and with pilots aboard glide down to a landing field, allowing two other locomotive planes completely fueled to fly up and hook on without the larger plane checking its speed.

Two by two the smaller locomotive planes would be replaced as their fuel tanks grew empty. The mechanics of arranging the hooking on apparatus is simple, engineers say.

Smother Violinist Will Play At First Baptist

Orley See, solo violinist of the San Francisco Symphony orchestra will play at the special service of the First Baptist church Sunday evening. See has had wide experience in several nationally noted symphony orchestras and is director of the Philharmonic trio.

Another interesting feature of the special service will be the organ concert at 7:15 which is to be played by Zora E. Bellis of Oakland. Mr. Bellis is an accomplished organist and has been called upon to give the dedication concert on many new organs.

The pastor, Rev. Weldon M. Williams, will preach on the subject "Home Sweet Home," and will answer three questions: 1. What about companionate marriage? 2. Do we get our heaven or hell in this life? 3. Will we know each other in heaven?

The public is extended a cordial invitation to enjoy the service.

DAILY LETTER of a Debutante

New York, May 24

Sue dear:-

I knew it would come sooner or later. You can't keep a good little princess down—especially when there are handsome and dashing aviators about.

Princess Giovanna of Italy has gone better—according to all the Roman matchmakers. Poor little thing is simply out of it. She's a little girl of the romance between crown and dagger, of that there's really much more to it than the Marquis de Pinedo, fun in leading a dangerous life. For all I know, she's an aviator's wife than in a gown to do to defy the traditions of being a princess in these days of royalty was to slip away one when princesses aren't what they used to be.

She's a little girl of the romance between crown and dagger, of that there's really much more to it than the Marquis de Pinedo, fun in leading a dangerous life. For all I know, she's an aviator's wife than in a gown to do to defy the traditions of being a princess in these days of royalty was to slip away one when princesses aren't what they used to be.

SMILES ON FLYER

Giovanna is a child of this generation. She realizes that even the Prince of Wales and his falls from a horse are as nothing to the slightest wave of the hand of a Lindbergh or a Pinedo. For aviators have taken the place of Lochalvars, and Captains of the Guard, and even Prince Charming. They are the Heroes of the Moment.

And, after all, why shouldn't a princess royal be allowed to run off with one of them, while all the poor little flappers who hoped that somehow fate would make an aviator smile on them gnash their teeth?

That's what Rome is saying, isn't it?

ROYALTY IN REVOLT

And all the while little Princess Giovanna, who has been reported engaged to most of the various—but decidedly, scarce—princes of the realm of Europe.

U. S. TRADING WITH RUSSIA ON INCREASE

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(U.P.)—American trade with Russia appears to be prospering at the expense of British, German, and Japanese trade with the Soviet. Latest figures issued by Russian representatives here showed that the value of Russia-American trade for the six months period ended March 31 totaled $30,000,000, to which should be added $20,000,000 for commerce not officially recorded by the Soviet agencies. This compares with the $59,000,000 trade for the half year preceding and with the $34,000,000 for the six months ended March 31, 1927.

ON ALMOST EVEN TERMS

Before the war American commerce with Russia averaged $48,000,000. In the years from 1909 to 1913, German trade was six times as great in value, while British trade was almost double that of the United States.

Last year, however, Germany and the United States were on almost even terms, with Germany slightly ahead, while the American trade was 60 percent greater than the of Great Britain. Russian-Japanese statistics are not available here.

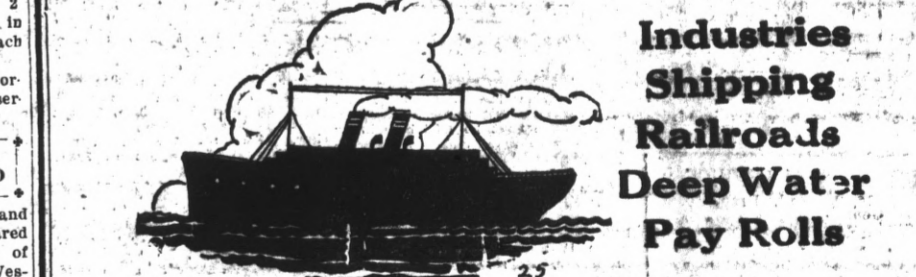

As American trade with the Soviet continues to grow, the other two countries are experiencing unusual difficulties. The British position was seriously impaired when diplomatic relations with Moscow were broken off last summer. There is a faction in England which now wishes also to sever commercial relations but the commercial and industrial elements are driving in the other direction. Manufacturers, for example, whose factories are not fully employed and who are aware of a vast, undeveloped demand for their products in Russia, are exercising pressure on the government to seek a closer accord with the Soviet.

Condition Of Motor Victim Held Improved

The condition of Thomas L. Woodruff, Richmond real estate operator who was injured in an automobile accident near Grass Valley last Sunday is improved according to advices received from Nevada City sanitarium. Mrs. Woodruff is at his bedside.

As it fondly watches the little princess and the youngest general of the Italian army, commander of the Air Force and round the world flyer, as they appear at state functions and seem to put more than just courtly politeness into their court smiles.

Rome always was romantic—princesses are no longer mere puppets of state—so there may be something to it. You never can tell.

MALIKS AND SANTA FE IN TIE CONTEST

There was plenty of excitement last night at First street park when the Malik and Santa Fees tangled. It was one of those games that kept the spectators guessing. The Santa Fees started out making everyone believe that they were going to win the game.

Then the Malik evened things up. The Santa Fees annexed another run in the sixth inning making the score four to three in their favor and the Malik stepped up to bat, coping with runs putting them in the lead. But in the last inning, the Santa Fees grabbed the one run that ended the game five to five.

Campagna pitched for the Malik, hitting Tula twice, walking three men and fanning seven. Peacock was on the mound for the Santa Fees, walking six and striking out four.

Now at the end of the fourth week, the Dougalls head the league with two wins, one loss and one tie. The Malik are second with two wins and two losses, and the Santa Fees are at the bottom with one win, two losses and one tie.

Due to the holiday, there will be no games next week in the City League, the next game being between the Samuels and Malik on June 6.

Payne Certain Of Winning In Pyle Derby Race.

By UNITED PRESS

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., May 24.—Andy Payne, the Oklahoma Kid from Will Rogers' home town, crashed through to a bigger lead than ever in the transcontinental footrace Wednesday, making it doubly sure that he will be winner when the footrace runners straggle into Madison Square Garden, New York, Saturday night.

"It's just a short jaunt from here to New York," the Claremore farmer said, as he took his bow at the end of the lap. "I'll make it now." He has a lead of 37 hours, 28 minutes and 7 seconds.

Eddie Gardner won the 38-mile shuffle in 6 hours, 2 minutes and 50 seconds, taking a firmer hold on eighth place in clipped time. Gardner, Seattle's colored

LIMAS TRADES PUNCHES WITH BORDE TONIGHT

Adherents of the well known art of scrambling nostrils will congregate at Promoter Joe Ross's boxing pavilion in El Cerrito tonight, when Jim Bord, French mitt slinger, will engage in battle with Joe Limas, home town pride of El Cerrito, in the feature contest of the evening.

Limas is no novice at proper etiquette within the squared ring, and is expected to put forth not too little opposition for the rugged brawler from points European.

Man of War Never Went To Derby.

It is a peculiar freak of the race track that Man of War, fastest of the twentieth century flyers, never went to post in the Kentucky Derby.

As I recall it, Louis Feustel, his trainer, was unwilling to take a chance on knocking him out of condition and kept him away from Churchill Downs. Like Victorian, winner of this year's Preakness, Man of War was withdrawn.

That was one of the few prizes that the Riddle star failed to win. He won about everything else and was beaten only once and then, appropriately enough, by a horse named Upset.

Man of War's failure to run in the Kentucky Derby could be likened to Dempsey's failure to fight for the world's heavyweight championship, or Ruth's failure ever to appear in a World's Series.

Horses have only one chance at the Derby. It is restricted to 3-year-olds, and unlike girls, horses can't forget their birthdays.

Arnold Rothstein Upset By Upset.

Sitting with Rothstein and Lou Clayton in Lady's the other morning, I was interested in Rothstein's heated denial that he had anything to do with Upset's unexpected victory over Man of War.

"I am not very emotional," confessed Rothstein, "but that is one day on which I felt really sorry. Man of War was my ideal. He had everything to make a great champion, and when Upset beat him I felt sincerely sorry."

They say the race was a phoney. If you were there, you will recall that the field broke from the barrier and were recalled because of a bad start. Man of War broke poorly the second time, and was carried wide when the field rounded the turn.

Upset, tagging the rail and laying off the pace, shot through on the inside and picked up ten lengths before the rest staggered out. It was a fluke win, but it has happened time and again, and no one has ever questioned the honesty of such a happening.

JUNIOR TITLE HOLDER WINS FROM MARTIN

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, N. Y., May 24.—(U.P.)—Tom Morgan, a wisp of a kid from Seattle and Vallejo, and dean of ring champions in that he has held his title longer than any other present day champ, retained the junior light-weight crown tonight by out-pointing Eddie "Cannonball" Martin of New York in a slow 16 round fight.

Martin forced the fighting from start to finish but with his short arm and awkward style, could not penetrate the splendid defense of the speedy youth from the far west.

The champion back peddled in most of the rounds, content to pick off Martin with the latter grew tired of swiping his ineffectual blows. Eddie's best work was done by beating Tom's ribs, but the lunge lacked the steam necessary to cause Morgan distress, and he seldom was forced to demonstrate his superiority.

Morgan won eight of the rounds, four went to Martin on sheer aggressiveness and the remainder were even. The challenger's persistent attack served to offset the champion's blows.

WIN WAGE INCREASE.

CHICAGO, May 24.—(U.P.)—Increase of 30 to 35 cents a day, respectively in the daily wages of engineers and firemen on Western railroads were upheld by the Federal circuit court, appeals in a decision handed down here today.

The decision will add millions of dollars annually to the payrolls of the roads affected.

Ed Sullivan's SPORT WHIRL

For the greater part of the sporting year, your babe Ruth, weighing 218 pounds, your Jack Dempsey, weighing 193 stripped for action, and your Gene Tunney, about 120, monopolized the sporting headlines.

Saturday, May 19, 1928 should go down in history as the one day on which the little fellows got their place in the sun.

It is the day on which sportsworld focused the collective eye on 120-pound Chick Lang, the Canadian, romping through the Kentucky Derby.

It is the day also on which the 135-pound Jimmy McLarnin and the 135-pound Sammy Mandell battled for the world's lightweight championship.

Chick Lang, McLarnin, Mandell, Jole Ray and De Mar are some of the tiny giants of sport. They may lack the bulk of your Ruth and Dempsey and Tunney, but they certainly deliver out of all proportion to their size.

Johnny Hayes, the only American who ever won the Olympic race, advances a plausible reason for the effectiveness of little fellows.

"We small guys create less of a strain on the heart than the big fellows," points out Johnny. "It is logical to suppose that the heart is under less strain when pumping blood through the system of a little fellow. The blood has less distance to cover. The big fellows have so much territory that the business of supplying them with blood is a lot more difficult."

When Dandies Wrote Songs About Horses

Although the Kentucky Derby is billed as a clash of East and West with Reginald Count, owned by John Herz of Chicago, pitted against E. B. McLean's Two, Jimmy Rowe, veteran H. P. Whitney trainer, says that inter-sectional rivalry has completely died out of horse racing.

"I remember the days when I was a lad around the race track," recalls Rowe, "when East and West rivalry really amounted to something. Those were the days when great horses of the West were followed by the entire West, and great horses of the East were followed by the entire East. Those were the days when you could hear dandies in the infield singing songs of their own composition, each song built around the horse of their choice."

"You would hear them at night as they huddled around wood fires near the stables and that low chant is something I will never forget."

"Of course conditions are different now. Racing has become a big gambling proposition. In the old days it was more of a sport. Horses and jockeys and owners had their own local following. Real fights were not uncommon if an Easterner sneered at a Western horse's record on the eve of a big race."

Those were the days when match races were common. Eastern owners would challenge Western owners, and match races, with only two horses entered, served to stir up rivalries which big fields prevent.

"But when I hear them talk of East-West clashes now I think back to the big fires of the old days with dandies singing, and I have to laugh, honestly."

STANFORD IS FAVORITE IN TRACK MEET

NEW YORK, May 24.—(U.P.)—Another strong Stanford University track and field team has come out of the west in quest of the intercollegiate championships in Harvard stadium, Cambridge, Friday and Saturday. The combined athletic forces of eastern colleges will be marshaled in an effort to stem the tide of western invasion which six years out of the past seven has carried away the U. S. A. title of its west.

"Dink" Templeton, Stanford coach, is taking a strong squad to Cambridge, in an attempt to repeat last year's triumph.

Of the individual struggles to which track and field enthusiasts are looking forward, there will be the quarter-mile which brings together Stanford's captain of the Stanford team and Launcelet Ross at Yale. This pair is expected to fight it out to the tape, with the possibility that a new record may be established in the race which is known as the "feature" of the I. C. A. A. game.

Gerald Swope of Dartmouth, recently turned in a 49.8 quarter and should not be far behind in the race which is known as the "feature" of the I. C. A. A. game.

The 400 meter race at Amherst will be the final goal of the runners who answered the starters' call for the 400 in the intercollegiate. Four years ago a young Divinity student from Scotland in ridiculously long running trunks which came nearly to his bowed knees, waddled away with the Olympic title, showing his heels to the best in the world.

Recently it has been announced that the Rev. Juddell will not compete in the Olympic Games next summer, so there is a grand chance for young Mr. Spencer or some one of the others to win the laurel.

Launcelet Ross, incidentally, is one crack runner who does not aspire to Olympic glory. Ross will not try for the American team, preferring instead to keep abreast with the Yale Glac Club.

"Bud" Spencer, whose boat has no equal in this country at the quarter mile, recently claimed the 400 yard Stanford distance, claiming double honors in 47.34.

But tracks are faster on the Pacific coast, and there is no telling what the trip across the continent has done in the way of slowing him up.

After the meet at Cambridge, he will remain here to try out for the Olympic team.

3200 MEMBERS OF A. E. F. STILL UNIDENTIFIED TEN YEARS AFTER GREAT WAR

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(AP)—The American Expeditionary Force, which fought the great war, has left behind it a legacy of 3,200 unidentified soldiers. These men, who were killed in action, are still waiting to be identified and buried in the cemeteries of France.

Three full regiments, the last of American troops, were killed in the battle of Meuse-Argonne. Many of them will never be found. Since the first of this year only 12 bodies have been recovered by workers of the graves registration service overseas.

Of the hundreds of thousands who bore arms in France and Belgium, 1942 are resting in unidentified graves while 1645 bodies recovered remain unidentified, making a total of 3187 listed in the war department records as missing.

When the World War closed, approximately 25,000 men were on the records as missing. Many of these were found, some of them dead, others in hospitals or prison camps.

Gradually, through painstaking search and careful check of information, all except the three regiments have been located and approximately the number that will go down permanently on the rolls of the missing.

In the past nine months 54 bodies have been found in shell holes and graves dug in the haste of bombardments. Of this number 32 were identified. Still the work goes on. Comrades of the missing are asked for information. Cards made are sent in drawn from memories of 19 years ago. More often an inquiry brings the reply:

"I helped to bury him, but I do not remember where the grave was located."

ALL CHECKED.
All information is sent to the Graves Registration Service in France. The memory maps are checked and careful search made over the territory indicated. Experts in the service are able to walk over the ground and tell whether or not it has been disturbed within the past 10 years.

If they find indication of a depression, which might have been caused by a grave, excavations are made. Often these reveal nothing, sometimes they uncover bodies. One report sent in by a former soldier eight years after the close of the war led to the recovery of six bodies buried in one grave.

When a body is recovered with all outward identification marks gone, the exact location of the grave and a chart of the teeth are sent to Washington. The records of men missing from that certain battle area are gone over until by elimination the recovered body is believed to be one of three or four men.

Sometimes the elimination process will lead to complete identification. If it does not, the teeth charts are studied for dental work. Often this leads to identification.

Out of the thousands of cases cleared up by the army investigators, only one case of mistaken identity has been recorded. This was caused by two similar dental charts.

Governors First Home

GOVERNOR LELAND STANFORD'S FIRST HOME IN CALIFORNIA

Michigan bluff, Placer County. Stanford alumni from all parts of California, together with a large representation of University students and faculty members, will, on Saturday and Sunday, June 2nd and 3rd, make their second annual pilgrimage to the first California home of Leland Stanford, founder of the University, at Michigan Bluff, Placer County, 30 miles east of Auburn.

It was in 1852 that Stanford, later Governor and U. S. Senator, "kept store" in this old home, and he lived there for about three years. Successful from the beginning, he then moved to Sacramento, where he became wealthy as a merchant, miner and railroad builder.

The old home was purchased last year by Placer County, through the interest of the Placer County Chamber of Commerce. The Sacramento Stanford Club is co-operating in the pilgrimage this year, and picturesque miners from all over the mountain region will "ride with" college students and alumni in the historic program and "old time" celebration. A tent city will be erected to care for the visitors.

Roads to Michigan Bluff are wide, safe and scenic and will be well served. Everybody is invited to join the pilgrimage, leaving Central Square, Auburn, at 2 P. M. June 2nd.

Coolidge Is Considering Likely Vacation Points

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(AP)—Like millions of his lesser countrymen, President Coolidge is keeping one eye on the rising thermometer and another on the calendar while green leaves and breezes from over the Potomac sound the summer vacation call.

It was announced at the White House today that the president had not decided just where he would spend the hot summer months, but he favors some place within easy riding distance of Northampton, Mass., where Mrs. Coolidge's mother is seriously ill.

One of the most likely spots offered is the Virginia estate, Swananoa, on top of the Blue Ridge mountains between Stanton and Richmond.

Col. W. E. Stirling of the White House secret service recently returned from an inspection tour of the estate and is said to have reported its location and equipment satisfactory for housing the presidential party.

Another highly recommended spot is Bar Harbor, but it has not been inspected and there are no indications that the president is considering it.

Coolidge has spent two summers in the northeast and one in the west, so it was regarded highly probable his vacation this year would be spent in the south.

The house at Swananoa, surrounded by acres of rolling green mer. scoutmaster of the troop, will assist L. S. Grubbe, scoutmaster.

How absurd you say. But not so at all. Her Electric Range with its automatic time and temperature controls is doing the cooking automatically, while she is away from the kitchen.

The dinner placed in the cold oven at one o'clock starts to cook at four. The temperature control keeps the oven heat just right.

The current will turn off at six. All this is done electrically while she is playing cards, motoring or shopping.

Would you like to have the meals cooked while you're away? Over thirty thousand California women let the Electric Range do this for them. Our representative will gladly tell you about the modern electrical way of cooking.
